RUSSIA RECOGNISES RED CHINA'S NEW GOVERNMENT

WESTERN POWERS ACCUSED

London, Oct. 2.—Russia has accused the United States, Britain and France of violating decisions of the Council of Foreign Ministers in setting up a separate West German Government, Moscow Radio said today.

The accusation was contained in notes handed to Ambassadors of the three Western Powers, the broadcast said.

The Radio quoted the note to the U.S. as saying: "The Soviet Government considers altogether worthless the attempts of the Governments of the United States, Britain and France to justify their actions connected with the creation of a separate German Government in Bonn as being in the interests of the German population."

EASTERN REGIME
Berlin, Oct. 2.—Communist sources predicted today that a "national government" will be created soon in Eastern Germany with the Kremlin's permission.

In a telegram to the city soviet of Moscow, the Mayor of East Berlin, Friedrich Ebert, announced "our determination to create a Democratic Germany on your model."

The Communist edited Berliner Zeitung declared that Soviet occupation forces would "lay no barrier in the way of building and activating a sovereign national all-German government" with Berlin as the capital.—Associated Press.

LEONG BEE NOT SIGHTED

The 800-ton Singapore-registered British freighter Leong Bee, released by the Nationalist Navy from detention at Tientsin last Thursday, had not been sighted by Wagon Light-house at time of going to press. She is returning to Hongkong with her cargo intact, it is believed.

Australia Will Exchange Envoys

Canberra, Oct. 2.—The External Affairs Minister, Dr. Herbert Evatt, announced tonight that Australia had agreed in principle to an exchange of diplomatic representatives with the Egyptian and Israeli Governments.—Associated Press.

SURPLUS OF WOMEN

London, Oct. 2.—England and Wales have 2,480,000 "surplus" women, according to official estimates of the population published today.

They showed that at the end of 1947 there were 19,888,000 males and 22,008,000 females out of a population of 42,156,000. The figures indicated an increase in the average age of the population since the last census in 1931. During the 16 years the proportion of the total population under 15 fell from 23.8 to 21.9 percent and the proportion over 65 rose from 7.4 to 10.9 percent.

Women live longer than men, according to these figures. Among people aged 65 and over there were in many areas more than twice as many women as men.—Reuter.

ILLEGAL PANAMANIAN CONSULATES

Cairo, Oct. 2.—Two rival Panamanian consulates ceased business in Alexandria on Saturday night.

A third Panamanian consulate, a real one, arrived and told police that both were illegal centres of an international racket in forged South American passports and visas.

Police said they are holding Elias Arvanitopoulos, who claimed to be "former honorary Panamanian Consul-General," in "preventive detention."

Police said they have evidence of "wholesale forging" of Panamanian passports. Visas to a number of South American countries, chiefly Venezuela, were also forged, they said.

Mr. Alberto Alfmann, newly-appointed Panamanian Consul and a real member of the Panamanian Foreign Service, uncovered the illegal operations when he began setting up a legal consulate.—Associated Press.

Breaks Off Relations With Canton Regime

DISPUTE OVER SECURITY COUNCIL SEAT PENDING

LONDON, OCT. 2.—MOSCOW RADIO ANNOUNCED TONIGHT THAT RELATIONS HAD BEEN ESTABLISHED BETWEEN THE SOVIET GOVERNMENT AND THE CHINESE PEOPLE'S CENTRAL GOVERNMENT.

The Soviet Government has broken off relations with the Chinese Nationalist Government at Canton and has decided to exchange Ambassadors with the "People's Republic" Government, the Radio said.

Russia's recognition of the Chinese "People's Republic" was announced by the Deputy Foreign Minister, M. Andrei Gromyko in a telegram to Mr. Chou En-lai, Foreign Minister in the new Chinese Communist Government.

The Soviet Government was withdrawing its envoy from Canton, the Radio said. Chou En-lai, who is also Prime Minister in the People's Republic Government, was earlier today reported to have notified diplomatic representatives of foreign countries in China of the official proclamation by the Communist Government of the establishment of the new Government.

M. Gromyko's telegram was in reply to the new Government's proposal for establishing diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union.

GROMYKO'S TELEGRAM
Moscow Radio said: "The Canton Government has come merely a provincial government and, therefore, cannot be recognised by the Soviet Union as the Government of China."

In his telegram, M. Gromyko said: "The Government of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics hereby confirms receipt of the declaration of the Central People's Government of China dated October 1, this year with the proposal to establish diplomatic relations between the People's Republic of China and the Soviet Union."

"Having examined the proposal of the Central People's Government of China, the Soviet Government, moved by the invariable striving to maintain friendly relations with the Chinese people and confident that the Central People's Government of China expresses the will of the overwhelming majority of the Chinese people, informs you that it has adopted a decision to establish diplomatic relations between the Soviet Union and the People's Republic of China and to exchange Ambassadors."

NOTE TO CANTON
On behalf of the Soviet Government, M. Gromyko made the following statement to the Chinese press: "The Canton Nationalist Government in Moscow."

"Owing to events that have occurred in China which have brought about profound changes in the military, political and social life of the country, as a result of which the Chinese People's Republic has been formed and a Central People's Government of China has been set up, the Government, located in Canton, has ceased to exercise power in the country, has become a provincial government of Canton and has lost the possibility to maintain diplomatic relations with foreign States on behalf of China."

"This circumstance led to the discontinuation of diplomatic relations of China with foreign States."

"The Soviet Government, taking into account all these circumstances, considers diplomatic relations with Canton as discontinued and has decided to recall its diplomatic representatives from Canton."—Reuter.

CRISIS IN U.N.

London, Oct. 2.—Russia's decision to recognise the Communist Government of China has advanced the date of the expected "China crisis" in the United Nations Security Council, according to diplomatic sources here.

Two separate Chinese delegations can now claim Great Power backing for a permanent seat on the Security Council, so until the United Nations Organisation can decide which representation is valid the work of the Security Council is almost in suspense.

STOP PRESS

TYPHOON COMING

If the present course of the typhoon centred this morning north of the Philippines remains unchanged, Hongkong is likely to experience a big blow tomorrow afternoon.

The Royal Observatory given the position of the typhoon at 9 a.m. today as within 30 miles of 10.5 degrees North and 121 degrees East. It was moving WNW at 30 knots an hour. It was stated that the course led almost directly to Hongkong.

Winds should increase in the early morning and the morning.

It had been recognised in United Nations quarters that this situation might have to be faced during this session of the General Assembly.

ANGLO-U.S. STAND

Diplomatic quarters believe that the British Government is disposed to accord rapid de jure recognition to the Communist Government, but it was expected that it would not be granted until Canton was captured.

The attitude of the United States Government is doubtful, and, according to usually well-informed quarters, the Washington talks on the Far East between Mr. Dean Acheson, the American Secretary of State, and Mr. Ernest Bevin, the British Foreign Minister, did not result in any agreed policy.—Reuter.

RED INVITATION

Shanghai, Oct. 2.—Chou En-lai, Communist Premier and Foreign Minister, has invited foreign Powers to establish diplomatic relations with the new Communist Chinese Government, Peiping Radio announced today.

The Communist broadcast said that Chou sent a message to all Embassies, Legations and Consulates on Saturday night claiming that the "Central People's Government" proclaimed on Saturday is the sole legal government of China.

Chou's message, which included the text of Communist President Mao Tse-tung's proclamation of the new Republic, was given to foreign representatives in Nanking and in Peiping.—United Press.

American Blockade Runners Being Taken To Tanghai

Shanghai, Oct. 2.—A Chinese Nationalist warship was today taking two of the three "blockade-running" American ships, detained off the mouth of the Yangtze since Thursday, to Tanghai in the Chusan Islands, according to a message received here by the local agents of the ships' owners.

The message, from Captain Henry Scurr of the 6,711-ton Flying Independent, said that his vessel and her sister ship, the Flying Clipper, (8,192 tons) were being taken to Tanghai.

He asked the agents to inform the United States authorities. Earlier message said that the Nationalist warship had signalled to have vessels to accompany her to the Chusan Islands, off Hangchow Bay, adding: "You must proceed and follow orders by my Government. If not, I will fire on you."

Last night, the Flying Independent was refused permission to move to a safe anchorage and protested that the rough weather and had touched bottom.

The local agents of the ships' owners, the Isbrandson Company, Incorporated of New York, told Reuter today that the United States Department was believed to have demanded an explanation of the Nationalist action from headquarters in Canton and was seeking the release of all three vessels.

The Flying Independent and Flying Clipper were on their way from Shanghai to New York with passengers and freight. Six Britishers are aboard the Clipper.

The third ship held the 7,007-ton Flying Trader, Shanghai-bound from Hongkong, is undamaged and is being detained by the Yangtze mouth, awaiting developments.—Reuter.

Contempt Of Court Action To Be Taken Against China Mail

Sitting in the Full Court this morning, the Chief Justice, Sir Leslie Gibson, together with the Senior Puisne Judge, Mr. Justice Williams, granted an application for an order nisi to be issued against the China Mail Limited, W. H. Nolloth and J. I. Mackenzie to show cause why writs of attachment should not be issued against them for their contempt of court in that on September 30, 1949, they did publish in the China Mail items tending to bring the administration of the criminal law in this Colony by the judges and magistrates of this Colony into disrepute and disregard.

The articles complained of were the leading article and two letters in the correspondence column, one headed "Local Justice" and the other "Hendy I Win, Tails You Lose."

The application was made by the Attorney General, the Hon. J. B. Griffin, who appeared together with Mr. A. Hooton, Crown Counsel.

The hearing was fixed for Friday at 10 a.m.

The Attorney General said that their Lordships, on reading the leading article and the two letters, would observe that they contained criticism, both in particular and in general of justice in the Colony, both as regards the superior and inferior Courts.

RIGHT TO CRITICISE
"I wish to make it abundantly clear that in making this application for an order nisi to be issued that it is not part of my case that there may be no criticism of decisions or actions of the Courts or of the judges or of the magistrates of this Colony, but, my Lords, my contention is that the right to criticise and comment, which has been given and recognised by the law, has, in this application to which I have referred, been most seriously exceeded," said Mr. Griffin.

"My Lords, as your Lordships are well aware, the law and the principles of law governing the matter of freedom to comment upon or criticise the administration of justice in its various facets has been frequently enunciated," he said.

"The Attorney General added that in modern times perhaps the case most helpful in this regard was the decision of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council in Attorney General for Trinidad v. The Proprietors of the Trinidadian reported in Appeal Cases 1936. He quoted a passage from the judgment of Lord Atkin which showed how far criticism of the administration of justice may go and at what point it must stop."

PASSAGE QUOTED

The passage read as follows: "But whether the authority and position of an individual judge, or the due administration of justice, is concerned, no wrong is committed by any member of the public who exercises the ordinary right of criticism, in good faith, in the public interest, in the name of justice. The path of criticism is a public way; the wrong-headed are permitted to err therein; provided that members of the public abstain from imputing improper motives to those taking part in the administration of justice, and are genuinely exercising a right of criticism, and not acting in malice or attempting to impair the administration of justice, they are immune. Justice is not a cloistered virtue; she must be allowed to suffer the scrutiny and respectful, even though outspoken, comments of ordinary men."

Mr. Griffin said that it was his submission that the proviso in the passage quoted was, in the letters and in the leading articles of the China Mail of September 30, blatantly ignored.

IMPROPER MOTIVE

Counsel then dealt with passages from the letter of "Simple Simon" and from the leading article, and said that the passages contained a clear imputation.

U.S. STRIKES BRING GLOOM TO INDUSTRY

Pittsburgh, Oct. 2.—A pall of gloom hung over American industry tonight with the vital steel and soft coal production throttled by the pension-provoked strikes of nearly 900,000 miners and steel workers.

Other thousands in related industries are being held off rapidly. The figure is expected to reach 1,000,000 in several days. Another half-million men in the fabricating business may be out by the end of the month.

The only foreseeable break in the depressing picture will come tomorrow with the return to work of Pennsylvania's 75,000 anthracite miners and 21,000 soft coal diggers in States west of the Mississippi River, who were ordered back by John L. Lewis, leader of the United Mine Workers, so as to have coal markets and to provide heat for American homes.

But more than 380,000 miners are still on strike in the soft coal fields, their continued negotiations with Northern and Southern operators hopelessly deadlocked. Philip Murray, president of the CIO and United Steel Workers, ordered steel workers out when he was unable to get owners to pay for the entire cost of the pension plan. Coal miners struck after it was announced pensions were being halted because the welfare fund was too low.—United Press.

PEAK WATER RESTRICTIONS

So much water is being consumed on the Peak that new restrictions have been imposed. Water is now shut off between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. daily, in addition to the usual restriction between 11 p.m. and 6 a.m.

The authorities state that over the weekend nearly all the service reservoirs were empty, and there is no prospect of an improvement in the position until several new mains have been laid.

Anti-Rabies Measures

THE rabies danger in Hongkong remains extremely serious. Since the last official total of human deaths due to this dreaded disease was issued about a fortnight ago, five more persons bitten by dogs have died. The authorities have not yet definitely established that they were infected; their brains are being examined for signs of the presence of the disease-bearing bodies—but it is stated that there is strong suspicion for believing that they were rabies victims. If this suspicion is confirmed, it would place the human death toll from rabies at eleven since the beginning of the year. The situation justifies the adoption of the most rigorous measures, and we are glad to see that the authorities responsible are setting determinedly upon a campaign of strict control. The publicity given so far to the rabies danger has already borne some fruit; fewer unlicensed dogs are now seen in public, while greater promptness is being shown by people who have had the misfortune to be attacked in reporting for treatment. It is a reassuring manifestation of co-operation in a matter of community concern. This co-operation should be extended to include strict observance of all the regulations laid down for the movement of dogs, reporting or assisting in the capture of strays and sending of dogs for protective inoculation. Some days ago, we advocated the compulsory inoculation of all registered dogs as a measure that should be enforced without delay. Commenting on this suggestion, an official statement calls it misleading. It goes on to say that it is the unregistered dogs that must be got rid of. "If we can eliminate all strays and then vaccinate all the others rabies will disappear," the statement adds. When we made the suggestion, we stressed at the time that it was attacking only one side of the problem. As a protective measure, it commends itself as one that can be tackled easily side by side with other action to be taken to deal with the outbreak. Any step which offers reasonable protection and can lessen the danger to the public must not be postponed. If the quantity of serum required to treat every licensed dog is not immediately available, efforts should be made to secure adequate supplies as soon as possible. There are so many stray dogs in Hongkong and Kowloon and in the outlying countryside that to give the question of their elimination priority over any other measure is to incur added risks and prolong the danger in our midst. We fail to see why simultaneous action cannot be taken.

Geared For Autumn

By GRACE THORNCLIFFE.

TWEED is the magic fabric
this season for both suits, dresses, and coats. It is geared for the street scene, for travel and for smart town use. An ideal choice for busy autumn days might well be this handsome dress of navy tweed with a tiny check of pale blue, with navy velvet to dress up the collar and pocket flaps. It is slightly draped through the mid-section, and three buttons close the bodice. A fly front plaque and a deep lap-over pleat in the centre front of the slim, straight skirt are other details.

SKETCHED for today's page is an interesting little between-season suit, a good choice for the traveller. The jacket is of mustard yellow wool jersey and uses tabs at the neck and waist
to encircle the brown button closing. The straight skirt is of brown woolen. Completing a smart outfit is a handsome slip-over blouse of brown jersey with a turtle neck and a yellow monogram. As in previous seasons, wool jersey is right on the fabric for a definite period. By all means, rule out
arguments and jawing.

Style Show In Musical Play

St. Louis—Distinctive designs were displayed in the style show presented as a particular feature of "Roberta," Jerome Kern's musical play which opened at Municipal Opera in Forest Park.

The fashions by Audrey, New York designer, especially for Municipal Opera, were modelled by members of the cast who wore shoes with exaggerated platforms, to increase their stature so that no detail of the costume was hidden from the audience's view.

The lounging pyjamas shown
were entirely of kaffe pleating, completed by a one-piece bolero-sleeve. A beach costume is of specially dyed burip cloth, trimmed with felt and sprinkled with extra large shirt buttons.

A negligee made with 65 yards of net is treated to withstand dampness and remain crisp. A walking suit is made of solid antiqued copper sequins.

What's New For Dresses At Paris Openings?

LOOKING for some stimulating ideas from current Paris openings to bring new life to the established silhouettes, the dress trade in America is reading Paris cables with special interest. Of course collections opened recently,
the following were among the most interesting possibilities for development in late autumn lines, holiday and resort groups.

A big revival of bias-cuts is singled out as outstanding major trend. These are slim and supple and graceful, contrasting straight fronts or backs against fullness at sides for instance.
There is more of the slim line
so far in dresses, day and evening. More ways of animating these slim lines. More short evening dresses.

Candle & Kite

Plaquet calls his leading silhouette "Flame Candle" because it shoots up and out into upstanding, flaring collars. He does several minaret pleatums, umbrella-gored to give slim lines a dramatic break. Foundations with matching overskirts are all in other straight hanging skirts that have peg when in motion. This plot of enlivening slimmest very definitely continues in Paris.

With dresses, his slim, often wrappy dresses have jutting
folds which he calls "kite
skirts" or spiral skirt drapes

His Little Garden Plot

By CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

FORTUNATE the child who has a garden all his own at home. All the better if he also has a garden plot at school. He really gains values from his garden only when he cares for it faithfully and regularly. His achieving this end requires skillful, patient parental guidance.

The test of the child comes in how faithfully he cares for his garden. It is very easy for him to neglect it even to forget all about it. If he does, he may have lost more in moral value than he has gained.

See It Through

If your boy or girl planted and cultivated a garden make sure that he sees it through to fruition. You should go with the child occasionally and help him or her. Also you should wrap up with him a programme for its care and see that he sticks to this programme even if you must require him to do so. It might add to his interest if you would plan to purchase at market
prices the produce of his garden.

With the kitchen garden of vegetables which your boy or girl have started, do your best to motivate him to choose to care for it well. Failing by persuasion, set requirements which may involve penalties in terms of his losing cherished privileges or even serving a sentence of sitting unmused doing nothing for a definite period. By all means, rule out
arguments and jawing.

Unless the child from eight to twelve or fourteen has a garden of his own which he cares for faithfully and which demands a reasonable amount of his time, he should be required to help care for the family lawn and garden. When Dad or Mother or both spend considerable time at such and are good companions of the child, they easily may induce him to share in the work, especially if they show great pleasure over having him help. Often, however, it may be necessary for the parents to work out a programme with the child in which he will be right there with them on the job at certain definite times, and in which he will have some definite duties.

Some Requirements

This presupposes that the parents have not trusted wholly to winning all such help from the child by persuasion. There will be some requirements.
These principles apply on the farm as well as in the town or city. Too many children are growing up in idleness without learning to share in home responsibilities.

Some parents in summer or winter pay their children for helping about the home. If it results in increasing voluntary help by them it may be a good way. But it rarely has such effect. More often than not it renders the child less prone to feel himself a responsible member of the family and less ready to do his share.

starting from the hem, and sometimes ending in stoles, called "insets." The asymmetric, irregular angular treatment of silhouette is very modern in feeling.

Side, Back, Front

Back fullness for her slim dresses impresses most at Schiaparelli who does skirts shortest yet in these early openings. Very short slim jac-kets and short skirt-skirts for her youthful suits.

Fullness off to one side is the leading plot for slim dresses in the Maggy Rouff show.

Graceful slim sides and fullness pulled to back and front impressed at Chaudmont where dresses very often have back closings and folds are worked in
with her skilful bias cuts especially around the shoulders and neck.

Slim Line Variations

Slim but animated is the report at Brieyre where the way of working this slim dress involves tucks, folds and pleatums.
Hidden culotte cuts in dresses are the outstanding trick. A lower-waist effect is subtle but definite in some dresses.

The Far-East aliveness of the big Balmain collection shows
necklines high and shoulders sloped above simple straight skirts. Necks are high but slit for afternoon dresses, high in front and low in back for cocktail dresses.

Less talk about length, but when it's mentioned 14 and 18 inches are specified.

Word on Fabrics, Colours?

There's less emphasis on fabric than in the past few Paris seasons. Velvet wool-lens, tweeds, velvets, ottomans, tulle, brocades, tulle run all through. Reversible occur. Two fabrics but in the same colour
for a costume are popular.

In colour, black much discussed. Reds, especially flaming and Oriental, popular. Bright off-colours specified. Tortoise and beaver popular, in line with well-liked neutrals in the New York market. Dark blues and Chinese blues.

Causes Of An Itching Scalp

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

ITCHING of the scalp is presented enough to call for treatment is more common than is generally supposed. It may be due to any one of a number of causes. One of these trouble-makers is known as seborrheic dermatitis in which, besides itching, there is the formation of thick, yellowish scales around the hair roots. Head lice, of course, is a common cause of itching scalp. However, in a great majority of cases of scalp itching, no obvious cause can be found. There is no eruption or discernible change in the scalp.

Prolonged Itching

Whatever its cause, severe and prolonged itching will invariably result in scratching to relieve it. Even when the patient has enough self-control to avoid this practice, during severe hours, he will give way to scratching. For this reason, the itchy scalp often develops infections at the site of fingernail marks and scabs. This leads to the formation of pustules, that is, swellings containing a few drops of pus, which break to form scabs. Even the lymph glands in the back part of the neck may be enlarged as a result of such an infection.

If a person is suffering from itching of the scalp he should have an examination made by a skin specialist, if possible,
to determine if there is an abnormal condition present, such as seborrheic dermatitis.

Over-Sensitive

Persons with an itchy scalp
who do not have any rash are usually over-sensitive and over-sensitive, and the basis of their trouble is nervousness. Here general treatment is important.
Every effort should be made to prevent exhaustion or fatigue.
They should get plenty of rest and sleep, fresh air, sunshine and exercise. If infection has occurred as a result of the scratching, an ointment of antiseptic and mercury is often satisfactorily employed. These persons should wash the hair

Stand Up Straight for Beauty

Poor posture doesn't look well at any time, but it's especially noticeable when you wear evening clothes, warns pretty Movie Star Cathy O'Donnell.

By HELEN FOLLETT

THERE'S many a mother who snarls at her daughter to stand up straight, who would do better if she would get a good example herself. Why should daughter cultivate good posture when Mom does not appreciate its advantage enough to maintain it herself?

Splendid posture gives a woman style. It makes her clothes look elegant even if she yanked them off the bargain counter. It is an aid to beauty because it is an aid to health.
With health, the complexion is like to be clear and of fine texture. It is a ring-around-a-rosy.

Strive for aristocracy of bearing. Endeavour to walk like a queen, and you'll have poise and self respect. The erect attitude is the attitude of courage. It boosts morale. It makes for graceful movement.
Observe the woman who slouches with shoulders thrown forward. She can't even get into a chair gracefully, nor can she lift herself from it without appearing awkward.

Stand tall. Contract the abdominal muscles from the lower portion upward. This pose lessens the measurement of the waist and hips. It expands the chest and pulls up the diaphragm. Relax and go through the same movement.
While the chest is lifted take several deep full breaths.

Stand tall, spinal column extended to the limit and see how long you can stand that way.
Keep your hands on your hips.
Now and then, lift on your toes.
One must remember to be continually conscious of posture.
Posture is a matter of the mind
even before that of the body,
because before one can really do a thing well one must desire to do it.

If you are given to wearing extremely high heels, confine your use to evening wear.
During the day have heels of moderate height. Spikes tend to send the upper portion of the body forward. Abdominal muscles lose tone. When that happens measurements are bound to increase and the so-called middle age shape is the penalty.

Fresh Fish Fillets Baked in

Paper Cases
This calls for a fish paste and 1½ lb. fish fillets. First make the paste. Sauté 2 tbsp. minced onions in 2 tbsp. butter or olive oil until yellowed. Add ¼ lb.
minced fresh or tinned lobster, ½ lb. minced fresh or tinned shrimp, and sauté 3 min. Stir in a tbsp. flour, ¼ tsp. salt and ¼ tsp. pepper. Beat 2 eggs until frothy and stir into the fish paste. Arrange the fish fillets individually in paper cases as follows: For each person use a good-sized sheet of plain white letter paper. Brush with butter.
Then using 2 tbsp. of the fish
paste make a layer on the paper about 2 in. x 3 in. On this lay a corresponding sized section of fish fillet, any kind.
Smoothly cover with more fish paste. Fold up the paper and fasten the ends together or fold
them over neatly and fasten with 2 paper clips. Place on a pooled pan and baked in a hot oven, 440 F. until the paper is brown, about 30 min. Place each serving in the paper on a plate.

But, remove any paper clips!
Serve very hot. Each person
"opens" his own!

Chicken Valenciano
This interesting dish is a combination of chicken, rice,
and shell fish, usually oysters.
You see, I am guardian for the son of the President of Colombia, and his two chums,
who are at school near here.
And very soon I shall entertain the wife of the President of Colombia, who will be here officially for a visit.

"And will you prepare the native dishes for her?"

PICTORIAL NEWSFRONT

FRANCE'S WORST—The sky is black and flames roar above the forest of Facture, a few miles from Bordeaux, as the worst fire in the history of France still burns two days after it was reported under control. Thousands of acres of wood and farmland were destroyed, and 82 persons were killed.

AFTER THE STORM—The Sun Beam, owned by Arthur Pearson of Greenwich, Connecticut, and a house boat are piled up on the rocks in Long Island Sound, near Greenwich, by the tail of a hurricane which first ripped through Florida. The storm shifted north and blasted parts of Long Island and New York City with windy gusts that blew in at close to 70 miles an hour.

HE FIGHTS 'EM OFF—While a delegate to the Veterans of Foreign Wars Golden Jubilee convention in Miami, Florida, Elwood J. Stokes, of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, had to protect himself with a billy. Shirley Modell of Miami wanted to take a reading of Stokes' waistline, but he seems a little sensitive about it.

FUN IN GERMANY—The also-rans, beside her were not much competition to Helga Sonja Schroder, centre, winner of a beauty contest in Berlin. But her more up-to-date bathing suit may have had a lot to do with the judges' choice.

WAITING FOR THE BIG EVENT—Taffy, a 30-year-old, 6,000-pound mama elephant, recently arrived in Thousand Oaks, California, from Bangkok, Siam, with her two-year-old daughter Mabel. Taffy's keepers guard her tenderly these days for she's expecting a new 275-pound child soon.

GOOD CHOICE—Although starlet Dorothy Hart, in Hollywood, has been chosen "Miss National Home Week," it doesn't mean she can really build a house. And her costume isn't exactly for that kind of work, either.

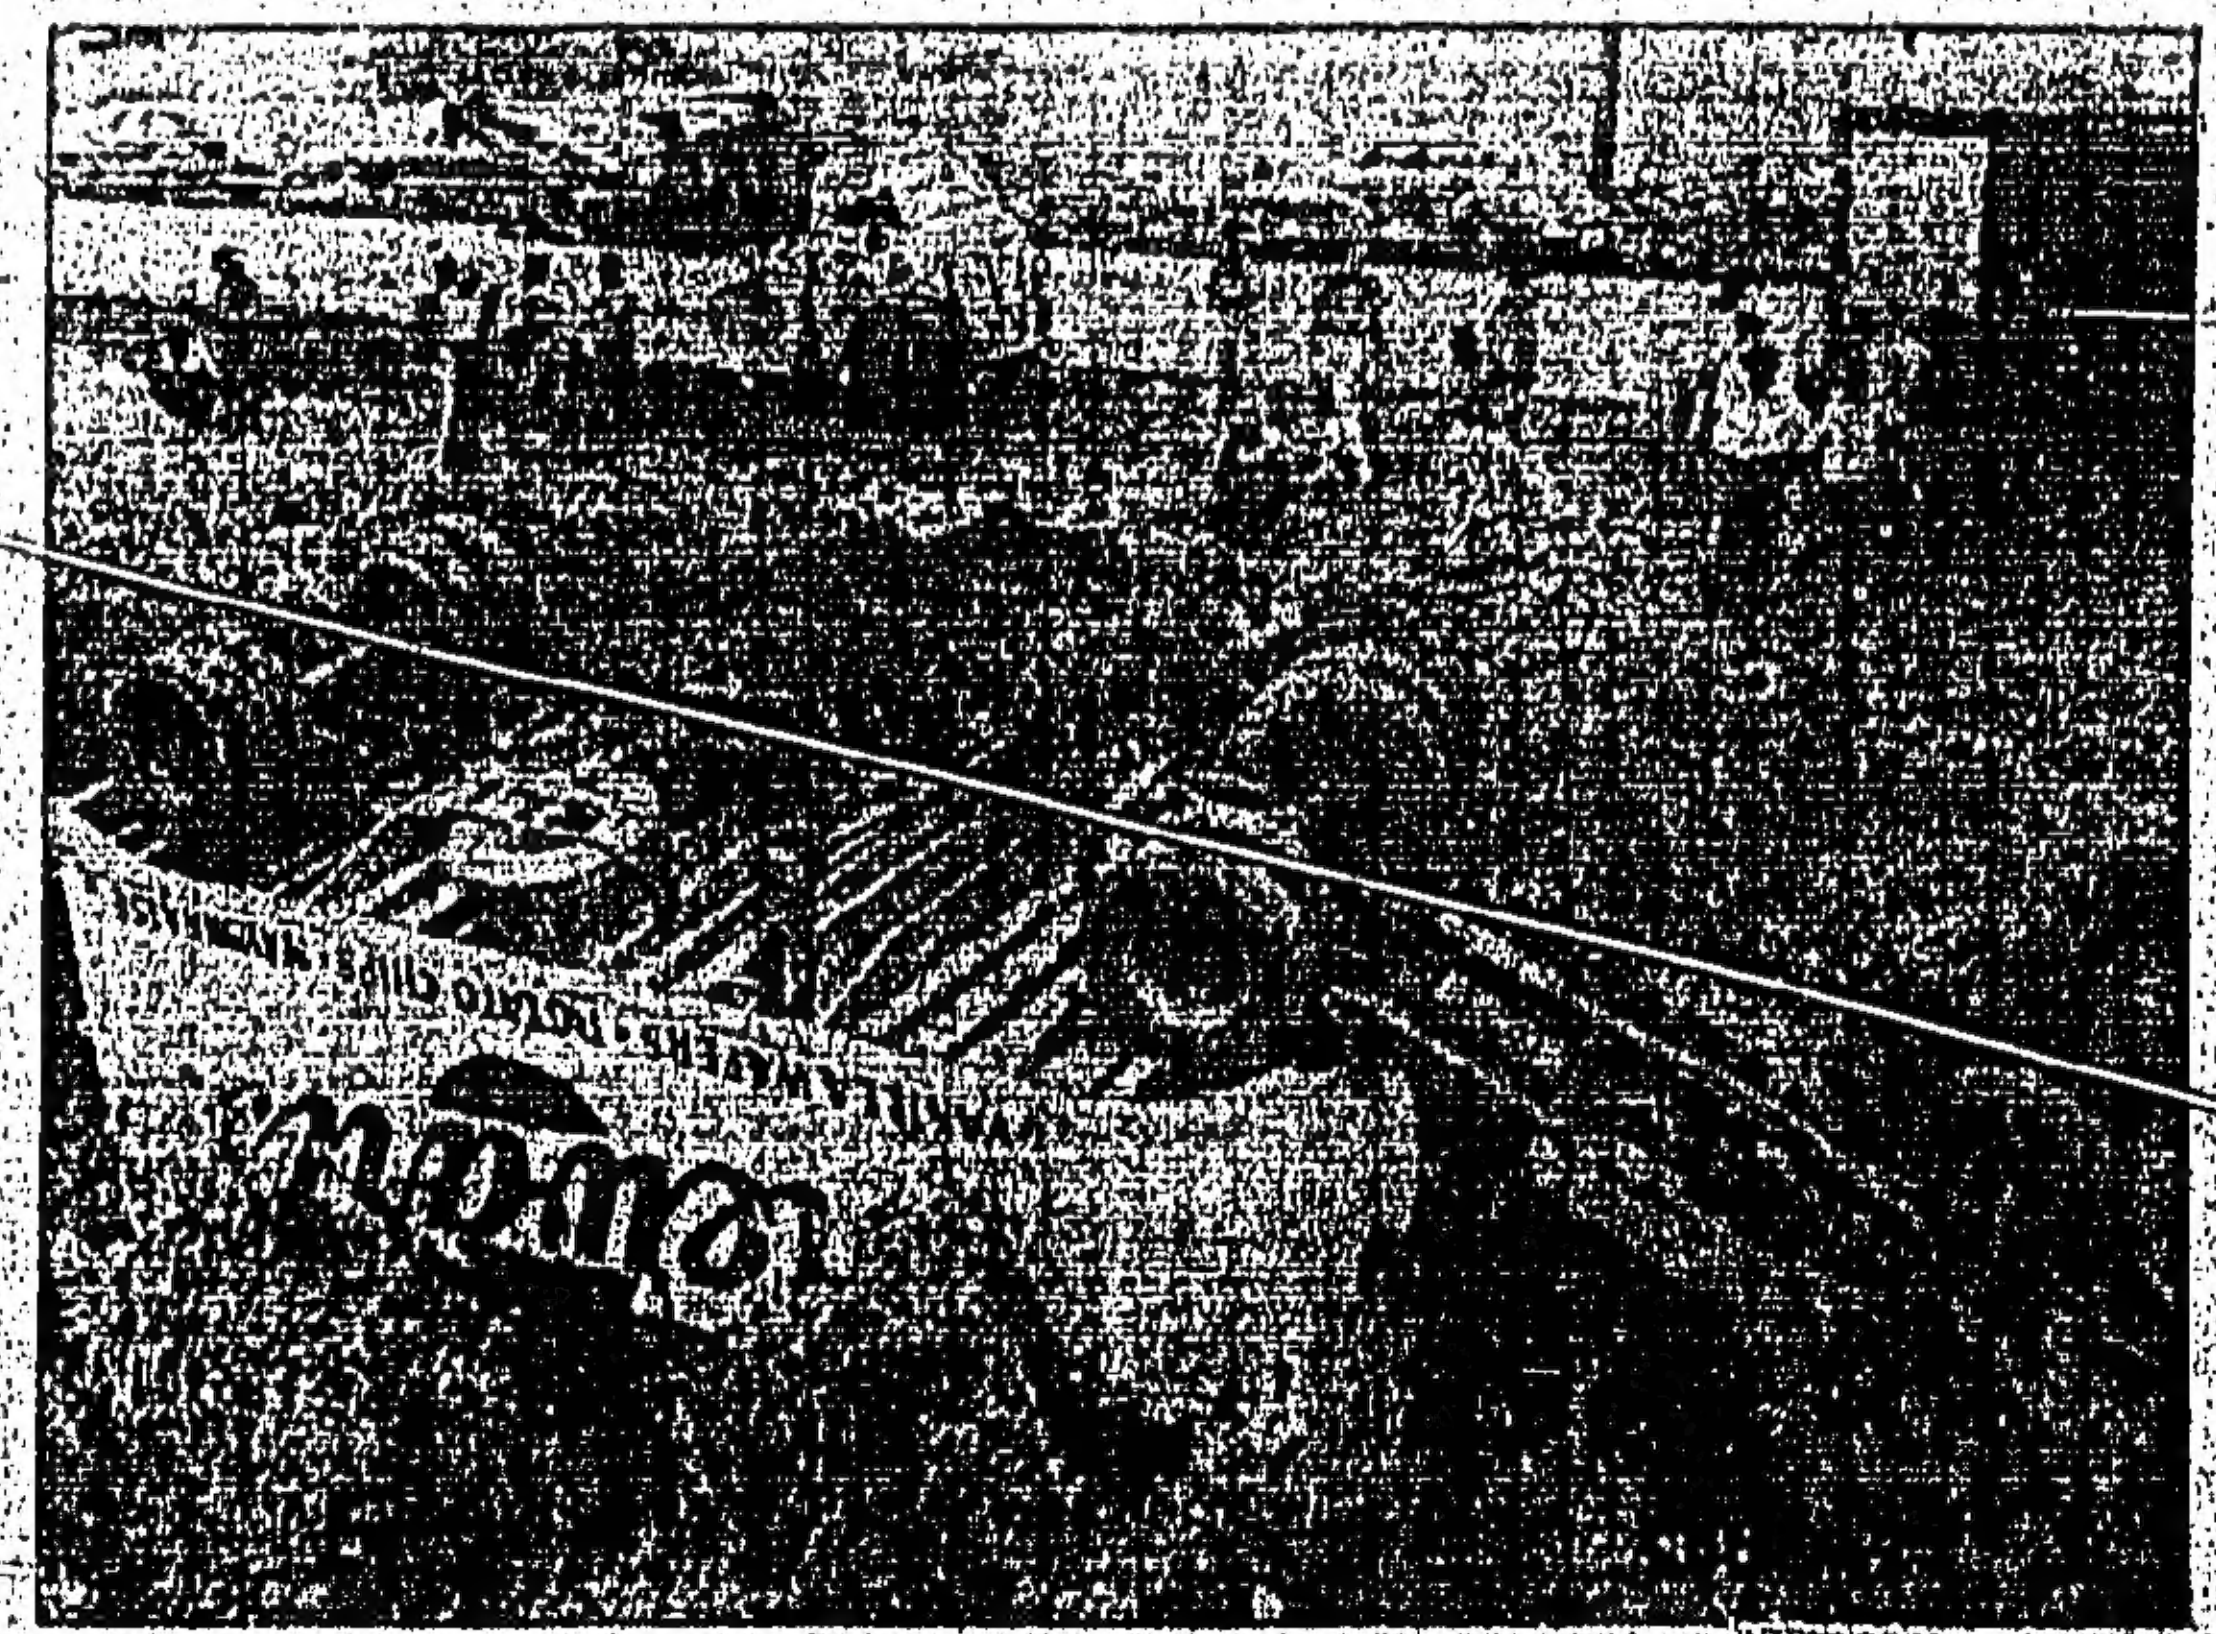

HAS HANDS FULL—Romeo Pompeo arrives in New York from Italy with youngsters, Maria, ten, Conchetta, three, and eight-month-old Yola. His wife preceded him to Middle Village, New York, and Romeo had full charge of the children during the trip.

KITTEN, RED TAPE—Mrs. Arnold Blair, wife of a U.S. Army major now in Yokohama, is bound up with red tape in New York. She's trying to get her cat sent over but she must certify that "Kittypole" is free from rabies, is in good health and will have a home when it reaches Japan.

G. I. SERVICE—The baby-checking corner of a USO service centre in Fayetteville, North Carolina, does good business these days. Little Roger Westerling and one-month-old Kenneth Slinner, children of service parents, have themselves a time while their mamas and papas do the family shopping or see a movie.

TOPSY-TURVY—The driver of this truck walked away from it, near West Memphis, Arkansas, only slightly shaken up, but he was surprised to find himself head downward in this ditch.

...SO PERON TURNS TO OUR OLD ENEMIES

IN front of me in the plane young Herr and Frau B. He tells me he has given up the excellent job of running a German ex-Servicemen's union in Kiel to join his brother in South Argentina.

On the seat next to me a Prussian ex-officer now in the wool trade. He has been visiting friends in Berlin and is returning to his business in Buenos Aires. Across the gangway a wealthy German-Argentine widow whom I last met in Holland ten years ago.

I inquire what has happened to her house near The Hague where she used to give sumptuous parties for the ex-Kaiser and his spouse Hermine.

A British diplomat, she says, is now living there. She is on her way home because General Peron's currency laws will not let her live abroad for more than six months.

On the seats behind me sit German emigrants going to the Argentine—tough young men of the ex-Wehrmacht type mostly but also some middle-aged ones. Technicians, they say. Two robust-looking German priests are with this party.

All around me they are talking German. Even the Dutch stewardess has taken to it.

Well, that is how it was, flying out here. Now that I have been around for a few days I understand why.

In authoritarian General Peron's Argentine, Germans are tops. And no nonsense about de-Nazification either. Nazis are everywhere. So much so that when I wanted to discuss the Nazi position here with influential Argentines, I found myself being whisked off to secret meeting places.

Telephones were unplugged for fear of eavesdroppers. Again and again I was subjected to the old adjuration which I know so well from the Iron Curtain countries: "Promise me you will never mention my name."

They stayed

The bald facts are:—
1 When, in 1944, the Argentine Government reluctantly entered the war against defeated Germany, the Nazi organisation in the Argentine numbered 50,000.

In Buenos Aires SEFTON DELMER continuing his inquiry 'Can the New Germany Harm Us?' finds an astonishing collection of ex-Nazis in positions of influence there...

members, most of them Argentine nationals of German descent.

This organisation was destroyed under the terms of the Argentine pact with the Allies. It has not been revived since, at least not publicly. Nor have more than two of the German schools, taken over by the Argentines been allowed to reopen.

But almost all those 60,000 Nazis have remained here. Their friends are still in power.

2 Peron himself has loyally maintained the admiration he formed as a young officer for the ideals of German military nationalism and social service. He has never lost his veneration for German technological efficiency.

Among his closest advisers and friends are German-Argentines who were high up in the Nazi organisation, and Argentine politicians intimately associated with the German Embassy.

Until quite recently the head of Peron's personal secretariat was a young German-Argentine named Ludwig Freudo. He is the son of the wealthy contractor Freudo who was very prominent in Nazi organisations, as well as being a great personal friend of Peron.

Senora Eva Peron, the General's dynamic and highly political wife, has similarly been employing a German-Argentine girl, Elizabeth Ernst, as her most confidential secretary.

3 This German influence has been used partly to keep German firms going with big public works contracts (even firms as publicly linked with the Nazi war effort as Siemens, Bauunion, and Gruend and Bilfinger have obtained big assignments for their Argentine branches).

Most important of all, however, it has been used to open channels for the inflow to the Argentine of thousands of Germans, anxious to escape from post-war Germany or the Allies.

The many who came clandestinely have been provided with Argentine papers, and where it was thought advisable, with new identities.

I have nevertheless been able to pick-up a few details. The main centres for the employment of these smuggled Germans appear to be in the Argentine Government's secret research stations at Cordoba in the naval staff college, in air force training establishments at Cordoba and elsewhere, in the Ministry of Transport technical experts for the administration of the formerly British-run railways, and in the headquarters of Peron's secret police in Buenos Aires.

They are known as heavy lift ships, and with the exception of some owned by a Norwegian shipping firm and a single US-owned ship are the only ones in the world capable of lifting such huge loads on board with their own derricks.

The ships are operated by the Dalhousie Steam and Motor Ship Company, Wormwood Street, London.

"We have already carried several cargoes of locomotives from Philadelphia to Bombay,"

the managing director of the firm said.

"The locomotives are usually brought to the quayside for loading in specially built lorries which have an engine pulling in front and another pushing behind."

"They travel very slowly to the docks, usually through the night," he said.

"Inside the ships, which are specially built with the ship's engine at the rear, is the maximum room for the cargo."

At Cordoba, about 300 German technicians are doing their best on jet aircraft designs, while others are flatteringly patriotic pride with some atomic research.

Their bosses are Professor Willy Tank, Hitler's favourite aircraft designer, and atomic researcher Dr Decker. Tank now goes under the name of Mathias.

Three German Air Force aces heading teams of German instructors in the Argentine Air Force are General Adolf Galland, General Baumbach, and Colonel Hans Ulrich Rudel. Rudel now calls himself Rudolf Meyer.

Chief German naval expert is Admiral Wilhelm Bauer, former commander-in-chief of the German Black Sea forces, a job which carried no great importance with the German Navy.

I have the names of 30 Germans who arrived here in 1947 and were given jobs in the technical section of the Argentine Ministry of Transport under an Argentine of German origin named Henschel.

At the secret police headquarters in Buenos Aires is Dr H. Theiss, formerly of the Gestapo. His job and that of three other ex-Gestapo men with him is to instruct the Argentine police in Gestapo methods.

But apart from this he has his own special duties as officer of the force, and so have others.

A new life

NOW, to my mind, it is perfectly natural that these men who are precluded by Allied de-Nazification laws from following their profession in Germany should seek to build a new life for themselves in the New World. After all, this is the traditional refuge of the defeated political exile.

It is equally natural that the Argentine Government should wish to use these German experts. We in Britain have been using Hitler scientists since 1945.

The French and the Americans all have their teams of famous Nazis. The Russians have built a whole research city for them. The French have recruited thousands of German officers and men to fight for them in the Foreign Legion against the Communists in Indo-China.

What makes these Nazis dangerous in the Argentine is that here they are coming in contact with 60,000 Nazis who have never known, or acknowledged, Germany's defeat.

With the authoritarian militarist regime already suffering from Hitlerian misdeeds in its approach to world politics, they are liable to infect each other.

The argument

It is not difficult to see along which lines the Nazis here are preaching to their nationalistic disciples and masters in the Argentine.

The monthly Der Werber is typical. It rejoices at the lack of agreement between West and East because it gives opportunities to Germany and the Argentine. Germany it foresees, may once more become the arbiter of Europe as a result.

The Nazis are urging their Argentine friends that this country has everything to gain from a war between West and East.

For this would mean, first, that Argentine products would once more command highly profitable prices; and second, it would give the Argentine time to become the strongest military power in South America—that is what the German experts are there for.

As the long conflict ended at last a powerful and fresh Argentine at the head of a United States of Latin America would be able to tell the exhausted Yanks to get out, just as she has been able to tell the exhausted British to get out.

It is an appealingly naive plan. But it is not too naive to find its appeal. And that makes it dangerous.

How to be happy at 50

By a Doctor

EVERY day most general practitioners have at least one middle-aged woman coming into their surgeries complaining of irritability, listlessness, headaches and hot flushes.

It is a well-known fact that "change" of life symptoms are to be expected any time after the age of forty.

But it is not fully appreciated that men, too, can suffer in the same way, though rarely to the same extent.

So far as the male is concerned symptoms come on later in life. Between fifty and sixty is the common time. Symptoms are not so severe, nor so general. But proper treatment can make life far pleasanter.

IRRITABLE?

MANY men suffer from lassitude, irritability, lack of power of concentration, palpitations and loss of sex feeling sometime during middle age.

More often than not it passes unrecognised. For men do not have to put up with the continual hot flushes and severe nervous symptoms that are the lot of so many women.

Yet it is useful to know that, just as "stilboestrol" (a synthetic ovarian extract) can control "change of life" symptoms in the female and save much suffering, so can the male hormone help men.

This gland extract is known as "testosterone."

Given by injection it can relieve many of the symptoms that men are prone to have during middle age.

Most noticeable is the added zest to life that occurs after administration of the drug to those who are lacking it. The greater the drop below proper level there is in the body the better will be the response to the drug.

Appetite improves; mental alertness is more marked; and a general feeling of well-being is brought about.

BELIEF

SOMETIMES diseases which come on with middle age are improved by this treatment.

Angina pectoris has been reported relieved; while arterial disease certainly improves under injections of testosterone. Enlargement of the prostate gland can be reduced in certain cases and so operation avoided. But it is important to realise that actual sex function cannot be induced if not already present.

The science of gland diseases is still in its infancy. But we know a good deal about the secretions that govern the reproductive organs. And this knowledge allows medical men to treat effectively a number of distressing diseases that occur in the later years of life.

BRITAIN'S BIG-LIFT SHIPS WILL EARN DOLLARS

BRITISH ships which can carry in a single cargo 36 locomotives, each weighing 88 tons, and 36 tenders, each weighing 83 tons, have been chartered to carry locomotives built in the USA to India.

They are known as heavy lift ships, and with the exception of some owned by a Norwegian shipping firm and a single US-owned ship are the only ones in the world capable of lifting such huge loads on board with their own derricks.

The ships are operated by the Dalhousie Steam and Motor Ship Company, Wormwood Street, London.

"We have already carried several cargoes of locomotives from Philadelphia to Bombay,"

we lay down railway lines to stand the locomotives upon.

"When we ship railway carriages they have their wheels removed so they can be stowed more easily, but the locomotives are shipped completely assembled."

Each of the heavy lift ships has three derricks capable of lifting 120 tons each.

The derricks are electrically controlled, and although they move very slowly they are almost completely silent while lifting the locomotives from the docks to the hold.

The ships are 10,000-tonners, with a 66-foot beam, and are 470 feet from stem to stern.

One of them, the Empire Byng, was chartered by the Americans to take long piling from Los Angeles to Manila. The Americans had no ships of their own capable of taking the cargo.

The hatches of the Empire Byng are 75 feet long by 25 feet wide. "About the biggest hatches" of any ship in existence," the managing director said.

And sugar

Another of the ships, the Peter Dal, is on her way back to Britain after delivering locomotives to India. She is bringing a cargo of sugar.

The ships were built by the Government during the war for carrying troops and small ships to the East and were taken over by the company after the war.

US Unions To Press For A Shorter Working Week

NEED FOR "AGGRESSIVE" ACTION BY WORKERS

St. Paul, (Minnesota), Oct. 2.—The Executive Council of the powerful American Federation of Labour said tonight that the time had come for workers to demand a shorter working week.

The Council's annual report to the AFL Convention, opening here tomorrow, called for a union bargaining drive to reduce the present hours, giving workers more leisure and creating jobs for the unemployed.

The present generally-accepted work standard is a 40-hour week of five 8-hour days.

Labour had for some time been talking of a 35-hour week of five 7-hour days.

In recommending a drive for shorter hours, the Council said that the country seemed to be producing more goods and services than the national income could buy.

"If the economy is to remain sound in the long run," the Council report said, "our developing productivity in technology must be leisure providing as well as labour saving, and must lead to shorter hours and higher living standards for all, rather than unemployment for a growing number."

Police Keep Watch For Fire-Raiser

St. Heller, (Jersey) Oct. 2.—Police and voluntary fire-watchers were on the alert on this English Channel island tonight for a man who had been reported to have set a blaze in the town of St. Heller.

Mr. P. D. Laurie, Acting Chief of Police, said that a series of fires, which caused $2,000,000 worth of damage in the island in the last two years, may be the work of a "clever maniac."

If he makes another attempt "that will give us our chance," he said.

The 45-square-mile island's population of 50,000 has been in the grip of fear and excitement since the police disclosed that they were hunting for an incendiary who was thought to strike always at 2 o'clock in the morning.

In one of the fires early on Friday, art treasures worth $100,000, belonging to the Earl of Jersey, were destroyed.

Police Officer Leaving HK

Mr. W. P. Thompson, Deputy Commissioner of the Hong Kong Police, will leave Hong Kong tomorrow to take up an appointment with the Singapore Police.

Mr. Thompson joined the Hong Kong force in 1920. He has held many high positions in the Police Department, his last post being Commanding Officer, Hong Kong.

He escaped from Stanley Camp during internment, and throughout the Pacific War was engaged in important war work in China.

French Want Fezzan

Paris, Oct. 2.—A resolution calling for the inclusion of the Fezzan (Southern Libya) in the French Union was passed by the National Council of General Charles de Gaulle's Rally at the French People in its closing session here today.

"French work in the Fezzan would be threatened by the artificial setting up of a Libyan State whose independence would be only a facade," the resolution said.

The Fezzan has been under French administration since French forces drove out the Italians in the war.

Jordan's Breach Of Armistice

Jerusalem, Oct. 2.—A mixed Israeli-Jordan sub-committee of the Armistice Commission has agreed that Jordan had committed a technical breach of the armistice agreement when an Israeli soldier was killed by Arab forces at Chirad, on the Wadi Araba, on August 31.

Anniversary Of Gandhi's Birth Celebrated

STATUE UNVEILED IN SINGAPORE

London, Oct. 2.—Indian communities throughout the world today commemorated the 80th anniversary of the birth of the late Mahatma Gandhi.

The first statue to be erected to Gandhi in South East Asia was unveiled in Singapore by Mrs Chandan Kalelkar, daughter-in-law of Gandhi's life-long associate, Kaka Kalelkar.

In Paris, more than 400 people gathered in the Guimet Museum to hear tributes to Gandhi's memory by Sardar M. S. Malhi, the Indian Ambassador to France, Professor L. Renou, Director of the Italian Institute of Civilization at the Sorbonne University, and Professor Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan, the Indian Ambassador to Moscow.

Dr. Mohan Sinha Mehta, the Indian Ambassador to the Netherlands, said in a broadcast over Hilversum Radio that Gandhi "belonged to the whole human family, not to this race or that country."

In New Delhi, Pandit Nehru, the Indian Prime Minister, said today that India now counted in the councils of the world because of Gandhi, "whose message not only helped us to win our political freedom but also inspired his countrymen and the world to greater and greater endeavour in the service of humanity." Reuter.

SIMPLE CEREMONY IN LONDON

London, Oct. 2.—The anniversary of Gandhi's birthday was observed in London with the utmost simplicity.

The Indian colony met at India House in the morning. The beautiful gallery library was draped with the Tricolour. Around a life-size portrait of Gandhi, striding along in a dhoti across a sunlit courtyard, was a 20-foot wreath of yellow chrysanthemums.

The Indian High Commissioner in London, Mr Krishna Menon, said that there was no doubt that from 1917 onwards Mahatma Gandhi was outstandingly the architect of India's political destiny.

But the real architects were the masses of the people, of whom Gandhi was the symbol.

The great part of the troubles which had beset India in the last two years had been due to

Scientists In Russia

London, Oct. 2.—Professor V. P. Volgin, Vice-President of the Soviet Academy of Sciences, said over Moscow Radio today that the greater crime against mankind was "to place science in the service of imperialism."

The Soviet Academician declared: "The scientists of the Soviet Union have shown that they are able to solve complicated tasks before them. We do not want war. We shall struggle against it by all the means at our disposal." Reuter.

World's Need For UN Technical Aid

Indian Delegate's UNESCO Speech

Paris, Oct. 2.—Dr. J. C. Ghosh, Director General of India's Ministry of Industries and Civil Supplies, supported UNESCO (United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization) participation in technical assistance to under-developed areas at the weekend meeting of the Organization here.

Dr. Ghosh said "We hope our programme in this field will make a great contribution to the future of civilization. At a recent conference at Lake Success on the utilization of the world's resources, it was pointed out that the population of the world had increased by 1,000 million in the last four generations and would probably increase by another 1,000 million by the end of this century."

"The development of resources in the Western world has progressed very much faster than the increase in population, with the result that people have a reasonable chance of enjoying a decent life as the reward of normal work."

"But for the large majority of the world's population, where modern knowledge has been little applied to resource development, poverty remains as grinding as ever."

"The conference at Lake Success held the view that our stock of scientific and practical knowledge was the world's greatest resource but that there was a large gap between what could be done with such knowledge and what was being done for the enrichment of human life."

"It is the business of the United Nations and UNESCO to bridge this gap as early as possible."

"PROGRESS MUST COME FROM WITHIN"

"The real economic progress of a country must come from within," Dr. Ghosh continued.

"The worth of a country is, in a collective sense, the worth of its citizens, the worth of its education, the worth of its science and technology."

"The Government of India has approved ambitious schemes of technical education. We would welcome UNESCO's aid in lending us teachers of real ability and high purpose and by providing us with books and scientific appliances at concessionary prices."

"Another form of aid should be fellowships for talented students from under-developed countries to train in Western educational institutions and industrial concerns."

"Science and technology are to aid in enriching life in the older countries, the people's outlook on life must change considerably. It will not do to deify the pursuit of earthly happiness for the sake of eternal happiness in Heaven."

"Mental inertia must not be harboured under the guise of conserving old ideals." Reuter.

Soviet Atomic Knowledge May Prevent War

U.S. Representative's Radio Statement

Washington, Oct. 2.—Democratic Representative Melvin Price today said that Russia's possession of an atomic weapon had halted a "dangerous trend" in this country toward "totalitarianism" and might help to prevent another war.

Mr. Price made a joint radio appearance at Chicago with Dr. Kenneth Pitzer, research chief for the Atomic Energy Commission.

Dr. Pitzer said the United States must not become complacent because of its four-year atomic lead over Russia. He added that there were still "extensive discoveries" to be made in the atomic field.

Mr. Price, a member of the Joint Congressional Atomic Energy Committee, said: "It is not likely a major power would go into an atom bomb war lightly."

Meanwhile, the Atomic Energy Committee was thrown into a furor by the chairman, Senator Brian McMahon, who suggested that it should be told how many atomic bombs had been stockpiled.

Only the President, his top military chiefs and the Atomic Energy Commission are kept informed of progress on the atom bomb programme—United Press.

THE JAP VIEW

Tokyo, Oct. 2.—Kiyuchi Tokuda, Japan's leading Communist, said today that Russia's possession of the atomic bomb was a "guarantee of world peace."

Addressing a rally of anti-trade unions of Japan on International Day "to demonstrate the determined will of all working peoples to defend world peace," Tokuda told 3,000 persons that "Russia has broken the atom-bomb mystery of the capitalists' nations and now is the strongest factor for world peace."—United Press.

Russians Shoot Film In Berlin

Berlin, Oct. 2.—The Russians made the last shots of their new film "Battle of Berlin" amid bomb ruins in the East sector of Berlin today, coinciding with the "World Peace Day" celebrations.

Soviet tanks burst into the centre of the city and Red Army infantry platoons swarmed over the bomb rubble near the old Royal Palace, forcing "SS troops" to withdraw behind a line of "tiger" tanks with the faded Iron Cross on its turret in a realistic reconstruction of the battle over four years ago.—Reuter.

He is staying overnight and will continue the flight to London early tomorrow.—Reuter.

New Insight Into Cancer

San Francisco, Oct. 2.—Electron microscope pictures have provided a new clue to the cause of cancer, Dr. Stafford Warren, head of the medical school of the University of California at Los Angeles said this week-end.

The instrument magnifies hundreds of times more than ordinary microscopes.

Dr. Warren, former chief of radiological safety for atom bomb projects, said the pictures show for the first time that certain cancer cells have embryonic arms which apparently enable them to dig through the walls of blood vessels. Normal tissue cells cannot do that since they are too big to pass through the capillaries and are dissolved by the blood stream.

This digging ability may be the main cause of malignancy, Dr. Warren told a Divisional meeting of the American Cancer Society.—Associated Press.
